
Invitation to the Nano4Youth 2021 Webinar: Harnessing Nanotechnology for Sustainable Development in Health

2021-06-24

Nabio Consulting (Pty)Ltd, a private company based out of Pretoria, South Africa, is hosting the Nano4Youth webinar 2021 scheduled to be held virtually using the Zoom platform on June 28th from 12:00 - 15:00 SAST. The topic of the webinar is harnessing nanotechnology for sustainable development in health, in which a number of young nanotechnologists talk about the application of nanotechnology in health, medicine, and pharmaceuticals. As a media partner of this webinar, StatNano invites you to attend it.

Nanotechnology is an emerging field of science that promises to revolutionise medicine in the 21st century as it offers great potential to radically advance the diagnosis, prevention and treatment of communicable and non-communicable diseases e.g. HIV/AIDS and cancer.

The purpose of the webinar is to provide a platform for young nanoscientists around the world to showcase their groundbreaking academic research. In addition, discuss the latest developments in nanomedicine and pharmaceutical nanotechnology.

Nano4Youth 2021 webinar program.

The Nano4Youth 2021 webinar will bring together local and international young nanoscientists to give talks on Nanoscience and Nanotechnology applications in pharmaceuticals, medicine and health.

The topics of discussions will include:

- The role that nanomedicine is playing in infectious diseases;
- Two-dimensional (2D) nanomaterials immune applications;
- Nanotechnology for health and medicine;
- The potential role of nanomedicine in delivering small molecules with clinical limitations.

Registration is free; however you have to RSVP via email below in order to receive the Zoom link. Should you have any enquiries, please let us know.
